Josephine captured the audience from her first lines. The curtain was called up three times at the conclusion of the first act, so effective did Miss Waldorf render the parting scene. Similar bursts of enthusiasin were elicited in every one of the remaining acts by her superb carriage and fitting inflection.

The company was large enough to make creditable military displays and the tableaux of the retreat from Mosow and the charge and rout of Water-too were greeted with insistent recalis.

The management desire to announce slight variation in their repertoire, the bill for tomorrow evening being Shakespeare's great tragedy "Romes & Juliet." Miss Waldorf is notably a Shakespearian actress and the oppor tunity will doubtless be welcomed of seeing her in one of her favorite roles.

A HEIAU LUAU.

Wailuku, March 14.-Last Tuesday fternoon, Judge J. W. Kalna enterrained a number of his numerous lady and gentlemen friends at a very excellent feast. The spot selected for the tunu was in the benely flat near the Pankukalo beach, back of the Pihana sandhills, and just below the rules of the once celebrated belay of Pihana, where offerings in former days were hid on the altar to appeare the wrath, if not the hunger, of the various deities. it was a cloudy day but no rain fell furing the continuance of the luau. It was a most enjoyable affair, more like an open-air picnic, and those who acepted the hospitality of the kind host King street, advertises today the latwill never regret the opportunity.
